“MOST ORIGINAL SHOW AT THE FRINGE” ★★★★★
Three Weeks

Terrible things happened in history.

So let's make funny sketches about them.

Historique is the hotly awaited successor to Spitfire Electronique, Jamie Douglas' live internet show that was a total sell-out in 2005

“EXTRAORDINARY” ★★★★★
Paramount

Historique is a sketch show that delves compassionately into the darker, nastier parts of history, and...
...finds something to laugh about.

So come along and experience for yourself the funny side of History's disasters as our roving reporter, Jamie Douglas, re-evaluates everything from the Cuban Missile Crisis to the Kursk submarine disaster, from Pompeii to Prohibition Chicago, from William the Conqueror to the Charge of the Light Brigade, from Hiroshima to the Bosnian Civil War. Oh, and let's not forget the most violent cricket tour in history.

Historique is proof that humanity and comedy can be found in the strangest places.

“SMART GOOFINESS AT ITS BEST” ★★★★★
Fest

One of the new generation of comedians to graduate from Radio 1's Milk Run, Jamie Douglas made a big impact last year at the Edinburgh Fringe with his unprecedented live virtual cartoon, Spitfire Electronique.

In the last year he's appeared on BBC Radio 7 and written for Kiefer Sutherland appearing as Jack Bauer in trailers for Sky One.

He is descended from 'Black' Douglas, Robert the Bruce's violent side-kick, and got a B in A-level history.
