“Black comedy at it's best. Pure genius!”
- BBC Southern Counties

“ A truly great piece of theatre. This is what Fringes are all about!”
- Latest7, Brighton Festival Fringe

Dark, stark and wholly inappropriate, ‘Present.’ is the story of two people who never met, but before either could move on with their lives one was born and the other had to die.

Fresh from their hugely successful run at the Brighton festival, Continuum invite you to come along and live for the now! WARNING: This production contains material that relates to life and death. If you are adversely affected by either of these issues, we think you should attend!

Continuum is a brand new Brighton based company dedicated to new writing and original theatre. Our aim is to produce a show every year that will preview at the Brighton Festival and then travel on up for the Edinburgh party. We did fantastically well this year in Brighton and received some great write-ups, so now we’re looking for reviews, previews and interviews for Edinburgh. Suggested angles include ‘A Tale Of Two Fringes!’ or ‘Continuum up to Edinburgh!’. We are of course open to all ideas!
