

Raunchy rude girls take on the Fringe

RUDE GIRLS – a brand new show from the award winning producers of Funny Women at the Fringe comes to The Smirnoff Underbelly.

The show will deliver just what it says on the tin - an evening of no-holds barred comedy designed to rock the joint as never before!

Ten sizzling shows featuring uncensored material from some of the best performers seen during four years of the Funny Women Awards, will be on stage at 11.45 p.m on August 5, then again on August 10-12, 17 - 19 and 24 - 26. To book tickets call 0870 745 3083.

Talent from the best of the Sheilas' Wheels Funny Women Awards 2006, which attracted more than 180 entrants, will also feature heavily.

“We wanted something tantalising that no other comedy show could provide,” commented Lynne Parker, producer of Funny Women.

“We can guarantee that Rude Girls will give you the laugh of your life – as long as you're not faint-hearted!”

Shows daily at 11.45p.m. Tickets are priced at £10 concs. £8.00.

Funny Women also raises funds and awareness for a variety of challenges that fall into the category of helping and healing women.

-ends-

For further information, images and interviews please call Tanya Reed on 07956 234904, email Tanya@funnywomen.com or contact Lynne Parker on 07973 470577 of Lynne@funnywomen.com

To book press tickets contact the Underbelly Press Office on 0870 745 3078 or email press@underbelly.co.uk

Further details can be found at www.funnywomen.com.

Notes to Editors

- Funny Women at the Fringe follows the 2006 Sheilas' Wheels Funny Women Awards. The unique competition, in it's fourth year, searches for new female stand ups across the UK. 11 showcases and two semi-finals have taken place throughout May and June across the UK and organisers watched more than 180 new acts.
- Lynne Parker, producer of Funny Women, was named as Best Producer in the 2005 Fringe Report Awards.